September 15, 2007

Mr. Carlos St. James
President
Cámara Argentina de Energías Renovables
574 Viamonte Street, Suite 214
C1053ABL - Buenos Aires
Argentina

Dear Mr. St. James:

The World Council for Renewable Energy congratulates the Argentine Renewable Energy Chamber on its new website and expanded focus into all types of renewable energies. We have also accepted your membership into the Council (membership #WCRE-8420).

As you know, the WCRE is a global voice for renewable energies. Our objectives include:

- Communicating the urgent and global need for Renewable Energies and their availability for all energy demands;
- Analysing the international barriers to Renewable Energies and preparing proposals to overcome these;
- Documenting experience of initiatives for Renewable Energies and communicating best-practice examples worldwide;
- Evaluating the advanced technological opportunities and applications of Renewable Energy Technologies.

We are well aware that Argentina is a country with enormous potential in renewable energies: winds in the Patagonian and Atlantic coast regions; abundant sunshine in the northwest region; and excellent soil in the Pampas to grow crops that can be converted into energy. In order to continue the country's strong economic growth of recent years, investment needs to be made in these areas.

The WCRE looks forward to a fruitful cooperation between our institutions.

Sincerely,

[signed]

Hermann Scheer
General Chairman
